

Can you picture yourself as a foster carer?

Have you ever considered how you could make a difference to a child's life simply by providing a safe, secure and stable environment?

Fostering is a rewarding career and there is no upper age limit, you just need to be fit and healthy, and you don't need to be married, or hold any particular qualifications.

You'll need to like children and be able to communicate with them, plus have some previous experience of caring or working with young people.

Foster carers are needed from all ethnic origins with varying cultures and languages.
